

UCTELA Fall Conference | October 22, 2010 | BYU Conference Center

United Through Literacy: Sharing Space in a Global Environment

Keynote Speaker: Carol Booth Olson

Sponsored by the Central Utah Writing Project, Carol Booth Olson is Director of the UCI/National Writing Project and a Senior Lecturer in the Department of Education at the University of California, Irvine. She received her Ph.D. in American Literature from UCLA in 1977 and was honored as Outstanding Graduate Woman of the Year.

She is the author of The Reading and Writing Connection. Strategies for teaching and learning in the secondary classroom.

Kristen Chandler

Kris Chandler has spent summers in Yellowstone at her family's cabin since she was a young girl. She began teaching writing classes in her early twenties, and is currently teaching in the Honors Department at BYU. She is a fisherwoman, a marathoner, a student of the environment, and the mother of four children. She and her family live in Drem, Utah.

Wolves, Boys and Other Things that Might Kill Me debuted last May. It has received excellent reviews in the National Press, and has had great commercial success, in spite of the fact that the wolves in her book don't turn into werewolves, or sparkly vampires.
